Chapter 6: Barrier Instruction

I've sketched it in my imagination time and time again.

without even the slightest hint of hesitation

At the moment of judgement, draws a trajectory to sever their life.

that decisively and quickly

I pull the trigger in a way or doubt,

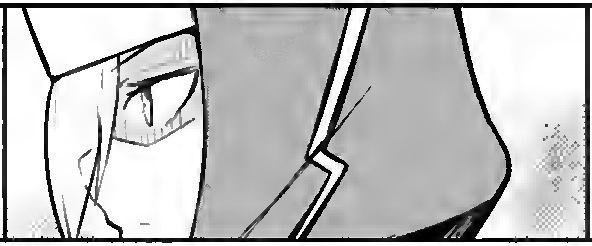
I'm tired of my weakness.



I pray to God and seek his guidance in this fashion.

Sister Kinako!
I heard you moved into Yomikado's dojo!
What in the world are you thinking!?
It's so I can watch him non-stop.
Hence, I have to stay with him for a long time, starting now.
There's no such need!
Hurry and eliminate him, for your sake!
I have my own considerations for myself.
Does that go against our teachings?
No...

"What if you were being charmed by that man?" ...so to speak?
It's just, I'm concerned.
You are the only one I think highly of, ever since your father entrusted you to me.
I'm... by that man?
Being charmed by him?
I realize the weight of this ordeal.
The devil's seduction appears scrumptious to you, since you are in distress.
You are constantly being tested for your faith.

Answer my question, Karasuma Kinako.
"Who does my body belong to?"
...It exists for the Lord.
"Who does my soul belong to?"
It exists for the Lord.

That is, for your lack of blessing, Sister Kinako.
The time and place of judgement will come soon.
Good.
just what do you mean by that-

People have been asking me not to drop Vanisher King.

I have a ton of series to translate and VK has very wordy chapters, so I came to a compromise after making some consideration.

From now on, I'm going to release each chapter in two parts, on an irregular basis.

The frequency of the releases will be based on whenever I can I squish it into my schedule, which is primarily occupied with a handful of weekly series.

Thank you for your understanding.
